AFTER SALES SERVICES

It is not enough to say "Thanks" or "Let us keep in touch" after a sale is complete. Long-term success is built on real and lasting customer relationships.

provision of services, support, and spare parts after making an initial sale, is the most important part to support our products, to keep our clients satisfied, and make the world safer at the end.

Installation work

Al Rayan providing practical solutions for designing and building new construction projects, replacing obsolete systems or upgrading existing systems to broad life safety networks.

From the beginning to the end, our dedicated team, engineers, installers, project managers and technicians handle all aspects of your fire system installation.

We guarantee that the installation of your system will be trouble-free and will comply with UAE Fire Safety code and NFPA standards.

we commit to develop people, win work, and deliver that work safely, ethically, profitably and for the betterment of the communities in which we work.

Maintenance

Today's Fire Protection Systems are more complex and advanced than the systems they replace. For this reason, they require greater attention to inspection, testing, and maintenance (ITM) to reduce life-cycle costs, extend service life, and avoid liability.

AL Rayan guarantees full service for the entire range of brands, including acquired products, of which it manages archives containing all technical information.
